CINCINNATI BALLET PRESENTS CINCYDANCE! IN WASHINGTON PARK
Greater Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky third grade students join together at Washington Park for community dance event

CINCINNATI, OH. Cincinnati Ballet presents CincyDance! in Washington Park, through the generous support of Procter & Gamble, Rumpke and Target, on May 20 at 12 pm in Washington Park. Over 1,500 local third grade students from Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky schools will learn a dance set to a mash-up of classical and contemporary music—including a surprise, current Top 40 hit—and share in a memorable, once-in-a-lifetime collaborative community experience. The entire Greater Cincinnati Community is invited to participate on May 20.

“Our goal is to share the importance of healthy behaviors with kids, using dance and ballet as the vehicle,” says Julie Sunderland, Director of Education & Outreach at Cincinnati Ballet. “Exercise is vital, and this is such a fun way to do it! This day will expose kids to new ways of forming healthy habits and reinforce the fact that dance is a fun way to get into shape.”

Cincinnati Ballet’s Education & Outreach program currently reaches over 52,000 people annually, through a variety of programming including school, church and community center demonstrations. This event is open not only to children but to the Greater Cincinnati community as a whole. Each third grader from a participating school will be provided with a free and healthy lunch, courtesy of the event sponsors and a colorful, commemorative t-shirt. Community members are encouraged to bring their lunch to Washington Park to observe and participate. CincyDance! in Washington Park also features exciting performances from local artists including the Cincinnati Ballet Second Company, popular band The Yugos, The Children’s Theatre teaching artist Deondra Means and a Kung Fu demonstration by the Blue Ash Shaolin Do.

“We are hoping that people will take it upon themselves to watch the dance-along videos, learn the dance, join us for lunch on the lawn at Washington Park, and have a day of memorable shared community experience!” says Sunderland.
